Have you ever had difficulty finding a special video?

Want an easy way to listen to a favorite voicemail?

I love you.

Do you have a text message that warms your heart?

Is there someone who could really use some loving messages or videos from family and friends right now?

If you answered "Yes" to any of the above, turn the page...

Sometimes it only takes a little light to help someone out of their darkness.

Have you ever received a loving phone call or card at the right time that made a difference?

Unfortunately, many people don't feel encouragement and love every time they need it. Imagine if they could watch or read a previous message in their time of need.

Special videos, voicemails, and texts can make a difference when they are feeling lonely, sad, bored, anxious, or upset. These loving messages are called Buoys!

Good news! The Buoy app provides an easy way to give and get special messages from family and friends—while keeping them in one place.

You can even request encouraging messages on behalf of others for special occasions or times when you know they would appreciate some encouraging and loving words.

Download the free Buoy app on your Android or iPhone to easily keep your special messages safe in one place!

Start sending more positive buoys to your family and friends to help them when they need a personal lift. ♥
